Designed with precision in Figma, Krypto's user interface brings clarity and ease to the NFT marketplace. I adopted a desktop approach, ensuring responsiveness across all devices. The design journey began with wireframes to outline the structure, followed by high-fidelity prototypes to refine aesthetics and user interactions. Utilizing Figma's collaborative tools, I incorporated real-time feedback to enhance usability. The final design features a sleek, modern aesthetic with intuitive navigation paths that guide users through buying, selling, and managing NFTs effortlessly
